

Exploratory Analysis

- Often the relationship between data at different points or the change over time that is most informative about how our data behaves

Assumptions of time series

- stationarity
- Normal distribution of input variables -
Boxcox transformation